

Columbia University
in the City of New York

DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY

February 28, 1911.

Nicholas Murray Butler, LL. D.

President of Columbia University,

New York City.

Dear Sir;—

As Mr. Michael Heidelberger wishes to become a candidate for one of the fellowships offered by Columbia University, permit me to add my testimonial and estimate of his qualifications.

Mr. Heidelberger was one of my students during his first year in the University and it gives me great pleasure to state that he stood at the head of his class. Since then I have been able to follow his work with the other instructors in this Department and I know it has been of an exceptionally high order of excellence.

It is not alone, however, on the basis of our relations of instructor and student, that I am recommending Mr. Heidelberger. He has served as my assistant in the Summer Session of this University and this association as colleague has but strengthened my conviction that he is certain to win high honors. I freely give him my indorsement without reserve.

Very truly yours,

H. A. Beavis